Teaching English as a Life Skill

Courses for Teachers

Welcome to Regent

At Regent we have been specialists in teacher training for over 30 years. We have trained thousands of teachers. Whether you are a native speaker teacher or a non-native speaker teacher our courses can have a direct impact on your future achievement and success. Fundamentally, we understand that knowing about the English language is not enough – what is important is the ability to successfully help learners use English as a life skill.

Positive, inclusive, results focused

Our core values shine through our programmes. We aim for a learning environment which is:

Positive

We believe that everyone can learn to teach English effectively, and whatever your current ability we push you to be a more effective trainer. We have high expectations of you and believe you are able to achieve the goals you have, and more.

Inclusive

Working in small teams helps to bring out your best and mirrors real world teaching situations. We support you to be able to convey ideas with impact and to motivate others.

Results focused

We teach you how to help your students achieve their goals whether in academic, professional or social English situations.

Accommodation

We can help you with accommodation. Many trainee teachers choose Homestay – living with local people in their own home. Alternatively, we can advise on hotel or guest house accommodation.

Professional, dynamic, motivating

Certificate in Teaching English as a Life Skill (Cert TEALS®)

The Certificate in Teaching English as a Life Skill (Cert TEALS®) is an initial qualification for English teachers in the UK and overseas. The course uses cutting edge teaching and learning methodology centred on helping students to use English to achieve their goals. This 4 week course includes: 50 hours of workshop input, discussions and guided study; 12 hours of teaching practice – double that of a normal 4 week course; very small teaching practice groups of just 4 trainees; weekly tutorials. Successful candidates receive the Certificate in TEALS®.

How is this course different?

English language teacher training tends to emphasise the teaching of English as an end in itself. This course focuses on teaching English as a life skill (TEALS®), that is, to develop the ability to function effectively in English in an international world. This involves the ability to communicate convincingly and persuasively in multicultural settings.

A proficient TEALS® practitioner focuses on the life objectives of the learner and has the skills, knowledge and confidence to help them to overcome barriers to effective communication and realise their objectives through English.

Course outcomes

On completion of the course, successful candidates will be able to:

- deliver an inspirational learning experience which enables the learner to see themselves as a successful user of the language
- monitor the performance of each learner and help individuals to set and achieve goals
- foster aspects of learners' spoken communication that go beyond language, such as presence and rapport, responsiveness and adaptability to others, delivery, and ability to cope under stress
- foster positive attitudes to learning including a sense of purpose and feelings of confidence
- encourage learners to use the language eloquently for real purposes, and in real situations
- develop their own lifelong learning skills.
